

Ever Thought About Becoming a Teacher?

SCC seeks qualified students for its new Call Me MiSTER program

We are recruiting potential students for the Fall semester at Spartanburg Community College!

The ideal MiSTER must possess leadership qualities as well as adhere to requirements:

- Major in Elementary, Early Childhood Education or K-12 Certification areas
- Maintain a minimum of 2.5 GPA
- Adhere to attendance policies
- Conduct self in a manner that exemplifies values of a positive role model and mentor

MiSTERS will also qualify for tuition and/or book assistance.

Please visit our website for more information:

www.sccsc.edu/CallMeMister

About Call Me MiSTER

The mission of Call Me MiSTER is to increase the pool of available teachers for the State's lowest-performing K12 schools and to create leaders in our communities.

The term MiSTER is an acronym for Mentors Instructing Students Toward Effective Role Models, and is primarily a mentoring type program where young minority students will be mentored into effective leaders, and will become mentors themselves to their students. This program includes females, too!

The Call Me MiSTER program has its origin from Clemson University, and began in the year 2000, combining the special strengths and resources of a research-oriented public university with the individualized instructional programs offered by four historically Black colleges in South Carolina: Benedict College, Claflin University, Morris College, and South Carolina State University. The program has also established a network of six two-year colleges, and in 2017, Spartanburg Community College joined this network.

Click here to complete your Call Me MiSTER application today!

For further information please contact:

Ivory Wilson

SCC Call Me MiSTER site coordinator

(864) 206-2706 | wilsoni@sccsc.edu