Down the Garden Path

A Shared Journey of Horticultural Excess

Dinner and Presentation • October 26, 2017 • 6:30 - 9:00pm
Spartanburg Community College central campus

Adrienne and Jon Roethling with their handsome dogs.

This year's Arboretum Adventures and SCC's Horticulture Department welcomes Adrienne and Jon Roethling, two dynamic horticulturists from North Carolina. Adrienne Roethling is the curator at the Paul J. Ciener Botanical Garden in Kernersville, NC and her husband, Jon is the curator of the Mariana H. Qubein Arboretum & Botanical Gardens at High Point University (High Point, NC). Their presentation Down the Garden Path: A Shared Journey of Horticultural Excess will highlight their experiences in some of the region's finest plant collections. The presentation will be followed by a delicious casual dinner and conversation.

ARBORETUM ADVENTURES is an annual fundraiser established in 2009 to support the SCC Arboretum and the Jimmy Painter Scholarship Fund for horticulture students at SCC. Over the years this event has grown beyond an evening event for the community to include a morning component for our horticulture students called Cultivating Conversations. This year's program is New Plants and Trends in the Industry, with speaker Rick Crowder from Hawksridge Farms.
